

Horizon Air

Your Complimentary Copy | JANUARY 2009

Our Cup of Tea

Seattle-based Remedy Teas is part of a newer wave of Northwest tea enterprises. The family-owned shop-and-cafe business, run by Anthony Arnold, his wife, Andrea, and his brother, Chris, was launched in November 2006. Arnold had been blending his own tea at home for 15 years, part of his overall penchant for a healthful, natural lifestyle that included following alternative medicine and owning a juice bar. Over the years, tea grew from a hobby to a passion and eventually into Remedy Teas.

"Everyone falls in love with tea in their own way," Arnold says. "Some customers on their first visit are already tea enthusiasts; others are new to tea and don't know where to begin. We try to be flexible and react to the interests of each customer individually."

Remedy's teas are also served at various esteemed Seattle restaurants such as Tilth and Cafe Flora, and Remedy green tea is featured in the Green Tea Facial at the upscale new spa, Vida, in the Pan Pacific Hotel Seattle. The facial is the first of several Remedy Teas-based facials the spa plans to offer.

The Splendor
of Sedona